

In Greek, the word for "revelation" is ἀποκάλυψις (apokalupsis). The scary English word "apocalypse" comes from this Greek word. Contrary to its negative connotations, this word has nothing to do with ominous catastrophes or disasters of any sort. It carries no connotations of doom or the end of the world. In Hebrew it is התגלות (hitgalut). It simply means to "uncover something that was hidden."
